

About eFlow

eFlow is the barrier-free tolling system on the M50 motorway. The M50 motorway is a radial route around Dublin and is intersected by the principal radial routes i.e. M1, M2, N3, N4 (also serving N6), N7 (also serving N8 and N9) and N11. Barrier-Free Tolling operates on the M50, as and from 30th August 2009 between Junction 6 (N3 Blanchardstown) and Junction 7 (N4 Lucan).

Overhead cameras and detectors automatically record your electronic tag or vehicle number plate, so you can pass through the toll point at normal driving speed, avoiding queues and reducing stress and frustration.

Accounts and payment methods

A range of account options are available, such as pre-paid or post-paid. You also have a choice of payment method, such as direct debit, debit card or cash. If you do not have a credit / debit card or a direct debit account, you can choose to pay your tolls by cash or cheque in any Payzone outlet nationwide. A list of Payzone outlets can be viewed at www.payzone.ie

Using other eToll plazas

eFlow tags are fully interoperable: that means you can use them on all other eToll plazas on Ireland's road network.

Please note that eFlow video (number plate) accounts are only applicable for the M50 motorway.

Using other toll tags

If you have electronic tags from other providers - MiniTag, Eazypass, eTrip, Eirtag, PassDirect and Tolltag - you can use any of these tags on the M50 and avail of the lowest toll charges available.

If you wish to register with another tag provider, please log on to the tag provider's website. For a full list and to compare tags, see www.tagcompare.ie eFlow is operated on behalf of the National Roads Authority read more (link to NRA website www.nra.ie) BetEire Flow, a consortium made up of the French toll operator Sanef and French tolling system designer CS. Between them, these two companies have over 40 years of electronic tolling experience in Europe and North America. Another partner, Payzone, is responsible for providing retail and online toll payment services for M50 users. Payzone is Europe's largest branded consumer payments acceptance network, providing services in over 21 countries.

Who we are
